They do not keep Auction and Job lots that are only half made and of the poorest stock but take pride and pleasure in selling their customers Boots and Shoes that are honestly and solidly made of the best materials and prefer rather to halt their trade by so doing, than to drive it away by selling trash. They warrant their goods to be just what they represent them and their prices as low as the lowest. They are sole Agents in this city for the celebrated BRISTOL work, for Ladies and Misses. These Boots are made on the McCombber last, and are acknowledged to be superior in style fit and finish to any in the market. The Winthrop

PROJECT IRON FURNACE.

Brick and Portable, Made Brick & Sizes Portable

Simple and Durable in its Construction, As Easily Managed as a Parlor Stove. Large Economy in Both Fuel and Blast. Does not heat the Cellar.

Manufactured by BIGELOW FURNACE CO

In the construction of the Winthrop Hot Air Furnace it has been made a study to avoid the difficulties and objections found in other Furnaces, Pure warm air, free from gas and dust, is the exact desideratum sought. Without enlarging upon its important features, we will say that in many houses, about which so much has been written at other, What has Mr. Beecher been doing in those years? From his pulpit, Sunday after Sunday, he has uttered words that moved even more deeply than his wont the highest nature of his hearers. By the testimony of his congregation, his sermons for the last two years especially; have had a spiritual power and truthfulness transcending all that had gone before. His week-day sermons, the "Lecture Room Talks," have been laid before the readers of this paper as they were delivered. How fail they have been of instruction and comfort, of closest sympathy with human hearts and struggles, of power to lift men into strength and peace and hope, we do not need to say. Innumerable letters have borne testimony to the moral helpfulness of the "Talks" beyond anything else that the paper has contained. Within this same period have been delivered the three courses of "Yale Lectures on Preaching," in which with a power greeted by the warmest tributes won from a critical audience, composed of the professional teachers as well as pupils in the Theological School of New Haven—he impacted so far as it could be imparted, the secret of his own strength. Never in Plymouth pulpit, we believe, has there been presented so noble a conception of the Christian ministry as in these lectures, and in no unimpaired writings can there be found higher impulse and wiser guidance in the work of helping men out of sin into holiness. In this same period, also, has been mainly written and given to the public his "Life of Jesus the Christ." During that period The Christian Union has been established and conducted under his guidance, and from him have been received its best inspirations. By these agencies his administrations have reached a parish which is literally world-wide; his books, personal, "talks," and writings have been published to the great religious reading public of Great Britain as well as America. And if this record we could add the private ministrations which the public can never know—the consolation to broken hearts, the help to ruined souls, the guidance of anxious inquiring, the quiet opening forth of his means to aid the destitute, the light to those in darkness—we should only add to a picture whose great outlines the world has seen and which will never die or be forgotten. This man a debauchee and a hypocrite? Then there is nothing in human character to be trusted, and all faith of man in man is delusion.

Let us, however, fully face and fairly consider whatever can be said. The moral sense rejects the charge as a monstrous impossibility, but we willingly go before the tribunal of the calmest late recital inquiry. What is the real evidence brought forward by the accuser discarding the mass of irrelevancies in which the case has been buried? There is an alleged confession by Mrs Tilton; but it is said to have been destroyed, and for its existence as a real confession we have only her husband's word, circumstances as well as direct testimony pointing to its having been an accusation and not a confession. And in fine, this poor woman has been shown as so weak, so wholly subject to the strongest outside influences of the moment, that the general public can give out little we ght to her testimony either for or against Mr. Beecher.

Then we have his allegation by Mr. Tilton and Mr. Moulton of Mr. Beecher's alleged confessions to them. Of these men we have simply to say that there is no reason either in their general character or in the nature of the evidence, why the word of either or of both should weigh against the word of Mr. Beecher Mr I ton, Mr. Moulton and Mrs. Tilton have each on their own admission, or on ample and uncontrovertible proof, told two wholly different stories of the whole matter; Mr. Beecher alone has said a ways the same thing

The remaining evidence against him, and the only real strength which the accusation has ever had with the public, consists in Mr Beecher's own letters. Of these Mr. Beecher has offered an explanation. In his statement to the Committee and his cross-examination he has told me what he meant by them, and with what feeling he wrote them. A large part of the community—including, we believe a great majority of the intelligent and high-minded—have fully accepted his statement and on the strength of it formed the judgment of the whole case. Yet to many there remains a difficulty and a perplexity. The explanation, it may be said, seems inadequate. Why, after all, so much self-reproach? Why such expressions of humiliation and remorse? How could an innocent and deeply wronged man so abase himself? Besides, it must be frankly said, Mr Beecher's statement astonished every one, and staggered a good many, by the sentences in which he takes which he attributed to himself. The public had believed him to be a man of in ne ss practical good sense—of courage, sagacity, and excellent judgment. His own statement, which most favorably read, shows him to have habitually erred in his judgment of these matters. He has been thrown completely off his balance in a sudden crisis, to have trusted his most vital interests to a counselor whom he must have known to be a fussy intriguer, and who proved, in fact, his enemy; to have repeatedly surrendered to this man his own judgment, and almost to have abdicated his free will. The statement showed too, a lack of the self-defensive instinct common supposed to be inherent in manly character. It disclosed a severity of self judgment which was morbid, and a tendency toward others which was irrational. In short, on Mr. Beecher's own showing, the ground of the accuser rests the burden of overthrowing whatever presumption is afforded by the character of the accused. Mr Tilton's charge is no less than that Mr Beecher's whole character is rotten. He alleges not merely a single offense, such as might consist with a general high moral character. His accusation covers not only flagrant sin, but deliberation, persistence, and such aggravations of meanness and hypocrisy as, if the accusation be true, ought to shut the perpetrator to eternal infamy.

And who is the man against whom such a charge is brought? For many years Henry Ward Beecher has lived in the sight of the American people. No public man of our time has stood in a greater blaze of pub licity. His life-work as an orator has kept him under the constant scrutiny of a great public. No man has poured himself forth in a more constant and profuse stream of sermons, and addresses, writings no man has been more closely watched by friends and foes; and no man has more freely revealed his own interior life to all who chose to read With the true oratorical temperament, ardent, open, self-disclosing, Mr. Beecher has had in a peculiar degree the power and the disposition to take his hearers into his confidence as to the workings of his own mind and feelings. Thus, through the forces of nature and of circumstances, he has lived for more than a quarter of a century in the eyes of the world as few have ever done—even his private conversation and most trivial remarks being caught up and repeated by the newspaper press, constantly, daily, to an extent almost incredible

And what has been the character of a public ministry thus known and read by all men? It will be safe to select a single characteristic as most prominent and most certain. It would be the helping men to a higher life. We do not dismiss Mr. Beecher's genius nor the soundness of his theology But we say, and we appeal to the whole community to bear us out in it, that preeminently his teachings and his whole public work has tended to make men better, purer, more unselfish, better in their relations to the duties of life. If the testimony could be taken of the men and women whom he has helped out of weakness and sin and despondency, it would be such a record as the world has seldom read Thousands and tens of thousands look upon him as their true father in God He has taught them to trust beneath their fear their worse selves—their ambitions, their pride, their selfishness; and through his ministry they have been helped into love of purity, self-sacrifice, and consecration to God and man Reading these words, countless hearts will bear witness that they owe their highest spiritual life to Henry Ward Beecher. And, looking at his work in its more public aspect, we appeal to every intelligent and candid observer Has he not been the helper of that which is good? Has not his influence been a great force steadily exerted in aid of patriotism, of education, of good government of public purity and reform, of every good cause? His whole work, wrought in the eyes of the whole people for 40 years, has been morally beneficent. He has genius greater or less than men have thought, he has thinks shallow or profound, his theology better or worse, this is sure. he has been above all things a moral helper of men Do such waters flow from a corrupt fountain?

Look at Mr. Beecher's work during the last four years—years in which, according to Mr. Tilton's statement, he has been a convicted villain, in daily dread of public exposure, seeking to cover up his sins by falsehoods, by acts of hypocrisy, and by the sacrifice of others. What has Mr. Beecher been doing in those years? From his pulpit, Sunday after Sunday, he has uttered words that moved even more deeply than his wont the highest nature of his hearers. By the testimony of his congregation, his sermons for the last two years especially; have had a spiritual power and truthfulness transcending all that had gone before. No public man of our time has stood in a greater blaze of pub licity. His life-work as an orator has kept him under the constant scrutiny of a great public. No man has poured himself forth in a more constant and profuse stream of sermons, and addresses, writings no man has been more closely watched by friends and foes; and no man has more freely revealed his own interior life to all who chose to read With the true oratorical temperament, ardent, open, self-disclosing, Mr. Beecher has had in a peculiar degree the power and the disposition to take his hearers into his confidence as to the workings of his own mind and feelings. Thus, through the forces of nature and of circumstances, he has lived for more than a quarter of a century in the eyes of the world as few have ever done—even his private conversation and most trivial remarks being caught up and repeated by the newspaper press, constantly, daily, to an extent almost incredible

And what has been the character of a public ministry thus known and read by all men? It will be safe to select a single characteristic as most prominent and most certain. It would be the helping men to a higher life. We do not dismiss Mr. Beecher's genius nor the soundness of his theology But we say, and we appeal to the whole community to bear us out in it, that preeminently his teachings and his whole public work has tended to make men better, purer, more unselfish, better in their relations to the duties of life. If the testimony could be taken of the men and women whom he has helped out of weakness and sin and despondency, it would be such a record as the world has seldom read Thousands and tens of thousands look upon him as their true father in God He has taught them to trust beneath their fear their worse selves—their ambitions, their pride, their selfishness; and through his ministry they have been helped into love of purity, self-sacrifice, and consecration to God and man Reading these words, countless hearts will bear witness that they owe their highest spiritual life to Henry Ward Beecher. And, looking at his work in its more public aspect, we appeal to every intelligent and candid observer Has he not been the helper of that which is good? Has not his influence been a great force steadily exerted in aid of patriotism, of education, of good government of public purity and reform, of every good cause? His whole work, wrought in the eyes of the whole people for 40 years, has been morally beneficent. He has genius greater or less than men have thought, he has thinks shallow or profound, his theology better or worse, this is sure. he has been above all things a moral helper of men Do such waters flow from a corrupt fountain?

Look at Mr. Beecher's work during the last four years—years in which, according to Mr. Tilton's statement, he has been a convicted villain, in daily dread of public exposure, seeking to cover up his sins by falsehoods, by acts of hypocrisy, and by the sacrifice of others. What has Mr. Beecher been doing in those years? From his pulpit, Sunday after Sunday, he has uttered words that moved even more deeply than his wont the highest nature of his hearers. By the testimony of his congregation, his sermons for the last two years especially; have had a spiritual power and truthfulness transcending all that had gone before. His week-day sermons, the "Lecture Room Talks," have been laid before the readers of this paper as they were delivered. How fail they have been of instruction and comfort, of closest sympathy with human hearts and struggles, of power to lift men into strength and peace and hope, we do not need to say. Innumerable letters have borne testimony to the moral helpfulness of the "Talks" beyond anything else that the paper has contained. Within this same period have been delivered the three courses of "Yale Lectures on Preaching," in which with a power greeted by the warmest tributes won from a critical audience, composed of the professional teachers as well as pupils in the Theological School of New Haven—he impacted so far as it could be imparted, the secret of his own strength. Never in Plymouth pulpit, we believe, has there been presented so noble a conception of the Christian ministry as in these lectures, and in no unimpaired writings can there be found higher impulse and wiser guidance in the work of helping men out of sin into holiness. In this same period, also, has been mainly written and given to the public his "Life of Jesus the Christ." During that period The Christian Union has been established and conducted under his guidance, and from him have been received its best inspirations. By these agencies his administrations have reached a parish which is literally world-wide; his books, personal, "talks," and writings have been published to the great religious reading public of Great Britain as well as America. And if this record we could add the private ministrations which the public can never know—the consolation to broken hearts, the help to ruined souls, the guidance of anxious inquiring, the quiet opening forth of his means to aid the destitute, the light to those in darkness—we should only add to a picture whose great outlines the world has seen and which will never die or be forgotten. This man a debauchee and a hypocrite? Then there is nothing in human character to be trusted, and all faith of man in man is delusion.

Let us, however, fully face and fairly consider whatever can be said. The moral sense rejects the charge as a monstrous impossibility, but we willingly go before the tribunal of the calmest late recital inquiry. What is the real evidence brought forward by the accuser discarding the mass of irrelevancies in which the case has been buried? There is an alleged confession by Mrs Tilton; but it is said to have been destroyed, and for its existence as a real confession we have only her husband's word, circumstances as well as direct testimony pointing to its having been an accusation and not a confession. And in fine, this poor woman has been shown as so weak, so wholly subject to the strongest outside influences of the moment, that the general public can give out little we ght to her testimony either for or against Mr. Beecher

Then we have his allegation by Mr. Tilton and Mr. Moulton of Mr. Beecher's alleged confessions to them. Of these men we have simply to say that there is no reason either in their general character or in the nature of the evidence, why the word of either or of both should weigh against the word of Mr. Beecher Mr I ton, Mr. Moulton and Mrs. Tilton have each on their own admission, or on ample and uncontrovertible proof, told two wholly different stories of the whole matter; Mr. Beecher alone has said a ways the same thing

The remaining evidence against him, and the only real strength which the accusation has ever had with the public, consists in Mr Beecher's own letters. Of these Mr. Beecher has offered an explanation. In his statement to the Committee and his cross-examination he has told me what he meant by them, and with what feeling he wrote them. A large part of the community—including, we believe a great majority of the intelligent and high-minded—have fully accepted his statement and on the strength of it formed the judgment of the whole case. Yet to many there remains a difficulty and a perplexity. The explanation, it may be said, seems inadequate. Why, after all, so much self-reproach? Why such expressions of humiliation and remorse? How could an innocent and deeply wronged man so abase himself? Besides, it must be frankly said, Mr Beecher's statement astonished every one, and staggered a good many, by the sentences in which he takes which he attributed to himself. The public had believed him to be a man of in ne ss practical good sense—of courage, sagacity, and excellent judgment. His own statement, which most favorably read, shows him to have habitually erred in his judgment of these matters. He has been thrown completely off his balance in a sudden crisis, to have trusted his most vital interests to a counselor whom he must have known to be a fussy intriguer, and who proved, in fact, his enemy; to have repeatedly surrendered to this man his own judgment, and almost to have abdicated his free will. The statement showed too, a lack of the self-defensive instinct common supposed to be inherent in manly character. It disclosed a severity of self judgment which was morbid, and a tendency toward others which was irrational. In short, on Mr. Beecher's own showing, the ground of the accuser rests the burden of overthrowing whatever presumption is afforded by the character of the accused. Mr Tilton's charge is no less than that Mr Beecher's whole character is rotten. He alleges not merely a single offense, such as might consist with a general high moral character. His accusation covers not only flagrant sin, but deliberation, persistence, and such aggravations of meanness and hypocrisy as, if the accusation be true, ought to shut the perpetrator to eternal infamy.

And who is the man against whom such a charge is brought? For many years Henry Ward Beecher has lived in the sight of the American people. No public man of our time has stood in a greater blaze of pub licity. His life-work as an orator has kept him under the constant scrutiny of a great public. No man has poured himself forth in a more constant and profuse stream of sermons, and addresses, writings no man has been more closely watched by friends and foes; and no man has more freely revealed his own interior life to all who chose to read With the true oratorical temperament, ardent, open, self-disclosing, Mr. Beecher has had in a peculiar degree the power and the disposition to take his hearers into his confidence as to the workings of his own mind and feelings. THE REPUBLICANS

[The] annual State election is close at hand—the fourteenth instant, only one week from next Monday, the citizens will be called to the polls for the choice of a Governor, members of Congress, a State Legislature and officers of the several counties. Of the general result there can be no doubt, unless the Republicans are guilty of a negligence unprecedented in the history of our State. During the [illegible] the Democrats have entertained a hope of any success [illegible] full expression of the people, and this year, as hitherto they know that the only possibility of advantage [illegible] in the chance of negligence on the part of Republicans. They have persuaded themselves that there will be more than the usual apathy in our ranks this year, owing to the lack of immediate exciting issues and have carefully but quietly prepared to bring out the whole Democratic strength, in the hope that here and there they may catch the opposition napping. We do not [illegible] and demonstrative canvass to insure the defeat of these expectations, but it is important that organized and vigorous effort be made in every community to have every Republican voter at the polls.

In this State we are fortunately free from the distracting [illegible] which make trouble elsewhere. The candidates of the Republican party have the public confidence and respect, and their election will fitly express the views of our people on the important [illegible] before the country. Our candidate for Governor has always [illegible] the discharge of executive duties [illegible] Congress [illegible] the fullest measure of their constituents' esteem, and the candidates for the Legislature and local offices have [illegible] proved their efficiency or been [illegible] by the preference of their fellow citizens. The unfaltering devotion of the people of Maine to the principles which they have upheld so firmly for years [is] admitted by no one, and it is impossible that any [illegible] Republican should have any sympathy with the doctrines or designs of the Democratic party.

That party has made its "new departures" simply [illegible] to deceive the unwary and [illegible] in the role of hypocrisy has returned to its old [illegible] and called the old [illegible] to the front. Again [illegible] of negro massacres in the South and again it encourages the treasonable element of that section to inaugurate fresh scenes of anarchy and bloodshed. With the policy of the Democratic party [illegible] once more placed in power may be [illegible] its past years of rebellion and its present sympathy with the defiance of national authority and [illegible] persecution of those [illegible] protection [illegible] the significance of [illegible] the Democracy have been [illegible] by any political success, it has always been followed by an outbreak of [the] lawless [illegible] in the South, as ever since the war the blood of innocent colored men has been essential to the celebration of Democratic victories.

The votes of the people of Maine will be cast at a time when a new reign of terror is [illegible] in the South, and it is important that there should be no mistaking the sentiments of this State. The party of rebellion, [illegible] and proscription should not be encouraged [illegible] the indifference of a single Republican [illegible] but every one should be at his post [illegible] sending out a ringing declaration that Maine stands where she stood when her sons [illegible] under the flag which should [illegible] the life, liberty and property of the citizens in every part of the land.

THE CIVIL SERVICE

The Democratic organs are just now printing in display type a statement started by the [Argus] that the number of civil officers in the Government had increased from 44,000 in 1860 to 80,000 at the present time, and claiming to base its assertion on the biennial register. The Press states that the authority of the Argus is a speech of Fernando Wood's, and exposes its deception as follows:

When Mr. Wood made his speech in Congress last spring, he stated that of the 80,000 of the civil officials 60,225 were employed in the postal department. Mr. Packer of Pennsylvania, met this statement by showing that including postmasters, clerks, route agents, mail contractors and every employe of the service even to the boy who gets $5 a year for taking a mail bag from a train to an office, there were 47,010, instead of the 60,225 as stated by Mr. Wood—a difference of 13,215, due to this gentleman's habit of stuffing.

In his speech Mr. Wood gave the number of post offices in 1860 as 28,294, when the mail routes of the country measured 31,000 miles against 72,000 at the close of 1873, and during which time the business of the department has more than doubled. Certainly an increase of less than 10,000 employes for more than double the work is not very extravagant.

In the War Department, Mr. Wood gave the civil list as numbering 1660, to which Mr. Kellogg of Connecticut, replied that there are 992 by actual count, the balance being undoubtedly officers of the army and cadets at West Point.

The authority of the Argus—Mr. Wood—made the most startling error in the Navy Department, where he quotes the register to show that the civil list in that department has leaped from 201 in 1871 to 8241 in 1873. In reply to this, Mr. Kellogg, on the floor of Congress, with the register in his hand, said that all the employes of that department, including civil service officials, all the officers of the navy from the highest to the lowest, including the navy cadets of Annapolis—all number only 2849, of which only 132 are strictly civil employes. Here the Argus list loses 8000 civil officials. The balance of Mr. Wood's figures, which the Argus copies, are of a piece with those already given, and his falsehoods were so bare when exposed that their author never attempted to defend them. He forgot to state that, since 1860, the civil list of the Internal Revenue Bureau has been reduced from 8099 to 3533 in 1873.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

(From the Lewiston Journal.)

The State election in Maine which takes place a week from next Monday, is attracting considerable attention in other States. The vote last year, it will be remembered, was unusually light, and Governor Dingley's majority over all 10,683. By an oversight in writing votes in some cases, and of clerks of towns in making returns in other cases, about five hundred votes which were cast for Mr. Dingley were returned with the junior omitted from his name, and therefore appear in the list of scattering votes—making the scattering vote appear to be 632, when in fact it was but 132. The returns make the vote of last year stand as follows:—Nelson Dingley, Jr., 45,236; Nelson Dingley 501, Joseph Titcomb 32,924, Joseph H. Williams 2,132, scattering list—making Gov. Dingley's majority only 9,551. The votes as cast, or intended, stood Dingley 45,739, Titcomb and Williams 35,056 (for the vote for Williams was mainly Democratic) scattering 131. Dingley's majority 10,683. The whole vote was only 80,927.

As the present is the even year when Representatives to Congress are elected, probably the aggregate vote will be larger than last year. The Republican majority, last year, however, was larger than usual on an off year and therefore an increase of the same this year is hardly to be expected, although possible. Unquestionably the Republicans could considerably increase it if they see fit to generally come out and vote, as all citizens ought to. The fact that not only Governor, Legislature and county officers are to be chosen, but also Representatives to Congress, and practically a United States Senator, ought to bring out at least every Republican who feels a just pride in the large influence which Maine exerts in the councils of the nation.

TILTON THE AVENGER.

(From the N. Y. Tribune.)

If Mr. Beecher is guilty, the appearance of Mr. Tilton in the character of Defender of the Hearthstone and Avenger of Female Innocence is certainly remarkable. He assures us that the knowledge of his wife's criminal relations with the pastor of Plymouth Church fermented in his bosom for six months before it came to an explosion. It was not until a crisis occurred in his pecuniary affairs that Mrs. Tilton's confession seemed a handy thing to have, and he caused her to write it out. He put it right at Mr. Beecher, and Beecher agreed to write a letter to Mr. Bowen for the purpose of preventing Tilton's dismissal. The letter did not produce the desired effect, but for the time Tilton seemed to be tolerably content, the ideal home was restored, the threatened scandal was deferred, and Mr. Beecher was allowed to continue his destructive career, devouring the souls of the women of Brooklyn.

The next attempt of Mr. Tilton to avenge his wrongs and check Mr. Beecher's evil courses was about fifteen months after. His claim against Mr. Bowen for damages was still unsettled and he wanted money. He therefore wrote an article for the Golden Age, recapitulating the statements made by Mr. Bowen in his Woodstock letter, and coupling with them one or two veiled allusions which must have given Mr. Bowen the most intense pain and alarm. A proof of this article was apparently submitted both to Bowen and Beecher. The result was that Mr. Bowen immediately paid Tilton $7,000, the tripartite agreement was signed,—and the article for the Golden Age was suppressed.

A year later, the Golden Age not doing very well, the hot spring of Tilton's indignation began to boil over again. Mr. Moulton suggested the best way to keep it down would be to advance money for the support of the paper, and Beecher thereupon executed a mortgage on his house. On the 2d of May, 1873, he paid Mr. Moulton $5,000 to be transferred to Tilton by instalments. "The Sunday following the payment of the $5,000," says Mr. Beecher, "I met Mr. Tilton standing right opposite to the house. He put his arm through mine, and was in his most 'benthe mood.'" And when the minister got to church, he found on his table this little note. "H. W. B.—Grace, mercy and peace. T. T."

THE VERMONT ELECTION. To read some of the Democratic newspapers one would suppose that the Republicans had met with a tremendous disaster in the Green Mountain State. The result, however, as shown by the returns received, is of quite a different character. The State has gone overwhelmingly Republican, electing Governor Peck, by about the same majority given his predecessor, some 25,000, and as for the Legislature we have already reports of the election of 81 Republicans to 25 Democrats, while we learn of only one Democrat elected to the State Senate. Of the Congressional delegation C. H. Joyce, Republican, is handsomely elected in the First District and Hon. G. W. Hendee, Republican, quite as decisively chosen in the Third, and in the Second District the contest between Judge Poland, the regular Republican candidate, and Dennison, the bolting candidate, is still in doubt, with the prospect of a new election. And even in this District the result affords no comfort to the Democrats, as no gain for them is indicated.

After an all night session the Eighth District Georgia Democratic Convention renominated Alexander H. Stephens for Congress.

The eruption at Mount Etna shows no signs of abatement. The inhabitants are fleeing from the villages at the foot of the mountain, but it is thought no harm will be done. The direction taken by the lava streams is remote from the cultivated parts of the mountain.

It was the mother of Lord Dufferin, Governor General of Canada, who wrote the plaintive Lament of the Irish Emigrant, beginning with the line, "I am sitting on the stile, Mary."

We trust that we have now had the last of the Beecher-Tilton scandal, and that the telegraph will bring us no more dribbles of gossip and rehashes of half remembered and unclean stories.—Hartford Courant.

The Nebraska Republican Convention nominated Silas Garber, of Red Willow Co., for Governor, P. O. Hawes, for contingent Congressman, and Bruno Tzschuk for Secretary of State. The contingent nomination is made on the claim that Nebraska is entitled to another Representative. If Congress admits the claim the present nominee will take his seat if elected.

We publish on our first page an editorial from the the Christian Union, in which Mr. Beecher's associates on that paper review the recent scandal with the greatest freedom and candor. Mr. Beecher's errors of judgment are unsparingly criticised, but his integrity and purity are earnestly and ably asserted.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS. The Piscataquis County Democrats have nominated the following ticket: For Senator, Andrew Wiggin, of Guilford; Sheriff, Ireson Briggs, Foxcroft; Judge of Probate, J. S. Wiley, Dover; Clerk of Courts, Henry Hudson, Jr., Guilford; Commissioner, Abel Oaks, Sangerville; Treasurer, Samuel Withee, Dover.

At the Washington County Democratic Convention at Machias, last week, the following candidates were nominated: For Senators—James R. Talbot, of East Machias, and Giles M. Wentworth, of Calais; Clerk of Courts, Chas. A. Buckman, Columbia Falls; Sheriff, Warren Hathaway, Eastport; Treasurer, John F. Harmon, Marshfield; Commissioner, Melville H. Willey, Cherryfield.

A correspondent of the New York Evening Post quotes Speaker Blaine as recently saying in private conversation:

"In fact, the Democrats seem incapable of stopping on any middle conservative ground, and there is no arresting their tendency to go to the bad in the way of unfortunate nominations, and it is so with all parties. When a political organization begins to give way, it must continue to give way, losing sagacity as it loses members and spirit. There is little doubt that, if the Democratic National Convention were to meet now to nominate a candidate for the Presidency, they would take some old 'Bill Allen' instead of a truly conservative, vigorous man, with life and growth in him."

A GOOD LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE. The following is Gen. T. W. Hyde's letter accepting the Republican nomination for Senator in Sagadahoc county. Gen. Hyde was one of Maine's best soldiers in the late war, is now a successful manufacturer, and will make an excellent Senator:

"I cannot but feel gratified at the confidence the Republicans of this county have placed in me by selecting me as their candidate for the State Senate, and it is the more gratifying as it has been wholly unsolicited on my part. On accepting the nomination, I pledge my earnest endeavors, if elected, to faithfully represent the various interests that are committed to my charge.

Though our local business depends upon the pulsations of the great markets of the world, we all feel intimately identified with the material prosperity of the State at large, which I esteem is the duty and privilege of our party to foster and promote by all honorable means. Nineteen years of Republican administration have prospered our State affairs to such a degree that the promises of the future may be read in the past."

There are two things in dress which distinguish the true lady—FINE GLOVES AND NEAT FITTING BOOTS—lacking which, although attired in the richest of silk or the glossiest of satin, she fails in the principal elements of the character, and is instantly set down as a sham.

THE FINE WALKING BOOT bearing the name and monogram stamp of S. MUNSON & CO., ALBANY, are the BEST MADE and NEATEST FITTING goods of the age, marking the wearer as a LADY.

They will always appear neat, keeping their shape on the foot until quite worn out, and with this and other advantages, are the cheapest for a lady to purchase.

[illegible] TO FEDERAL OFFICERS TO PREVENT FURTHER OUTRAGES IN THE SOUTH

In accordance with the understanding arrived at this morning, at the conference between the Attorney-General and the Secretary of War, the former has this afternoon issued a circular of instructions to Federal officials in the South to prevent further outrages.

It is believed that the President will soon return to Washington for a brief period, when all the members of the Cabinet will be in the city and the first Cabinet meeting since the adjournment of Congress will be held.

THE PRESIDENT DETERMINED TO UPHOLD THE LAWS

Long Branch, Sept. 3, 1874.

Hon. W. W. Belknap, Secretary of War.

The recent atrocities in the South, particularly in Louisiana, Alabama and South Carolina show a disregard for law, civil rights and personal protection that ought not to be tolerated in any civilized government. It looks as if, unless speedily checked, matters will become worse until life and property there will receive no protection from local authority, until such authority becomes powerless. Under such circumstances, it is the duty of the Government to give all the aid for the protection of life and civil rights which are legally authorized.

To this end I wish you would consult with the Attorney General, who is well informed as to the outrages already committed, and the localities where the greatest danger lies, and so order troops as to be available in case of necessity. All proceedings for the protection of the South will be under the law department of the Government, and will be directed by the Attorney-General in accordance with the provisions of the Enforcement Act. No instructions need, therefore, be given troops ordered into the Southern States, except as they may be transmitted from time to time on the advice from the Attorney-General, or as circumstances may determine hereafter.

Yours truly, U. S. GRANT.

The defendants filed demurrers on the 2d of September following, and the decision to-day has sustained the demurrer. The Court has issued a decree in accordance.

The Louisiana Massacre!

THE GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION!

$5,000 a Head on the Murderers!

The Facts of the Butchery!

WORK OF THE WHITE LEAGUE!

THE GOVERNOR OFFERS $5,000 EACH FOR CONVICTION OF THE COUSHATTA MURDERERS.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 3. Gov Kellogg has issued a proclamation placing a reward of $5,000 a head on all persons implicated in the Coushatta affair and accompanying his proclamation by the following statement:—

"TO THE PUBLIC.—Having felt it my duty to issue my proclamation offering a large reward for the apprehension and conviction of the murderers in Coushatta, and that the law-abiding citizens of the State may fully comprehend the magnitude of the crime committed and be induced to render more active assistance to the officers of the law, I deem it proper to make the following statement.—

THE WHITE LEAGUE AT WORK.

These facts are gathered from reliable information received at the Executive Department. On or about the 28th day of August, 1874, a body of persons belonging to a semi-military organization known as the White League of Louisiana, assembled in the town of Coushatta, Parish of Red River, in this State, for the purpose of compelling by force of arms the State officers of that Parish to resign their positions. The officers were men of good character, most of them being largely interested in planting and mercantile pursuits, they held their position with the full consent of an admittedly large majority of legal voters of the Parish. This being a heavily Republican Parish as admitted by the Fusion Returning Boards, the only known objection to them was that they were of Republican principles.

THE SHERIFF OVERPOWERED BY THE OUTLAWS — THE REPUBLICANS THROWN INTO JAIL.

Frank Edgerton, duly qualified as sheriff of the Parish, in strict compliance with the laws of the State and of the United States, summoned a posse comitatus of citizens, white and colored, to assist him in protecting the Parish officers in the exercise of their undoubted rights and duties from the threatened unlawful violence of the White League. His posse of sixty-five men were overpowered by a superior force assembled from adjacent Parishes, and finally, after several colored and white men had been killed, surrendered themselves prisoners, with the explicit guarantee that their lives should be spared if the more prominent Republicans would agree to leave the Parish, and those holding office would resign. These stipulations, though unlawfully exacted, were complied with. Part of the Republican officials were then locked up in jail for the night.

THE VICTIMS.

The following persons were among those who surrendered and resigned. H. J Twitchell, planter and Tax Collector of Red River Parish and deputy U. S. P. M., in charge of the post office at Coushatta; Robt. A. Dewes, Supervisor of Registration, of De Soto Parish; Clark Holland, a merchant and Supervisor of Registration for Red River Parish, W. F. Howell, Parish Attorney and U. S. Commissioner, Frank S. Edgerton, Sheriff of Red River Parish and M. E. Willis, a merchant and Justice of the Peace.

MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD

On the following morning (Sunday, the 30th) these persons were bound together, two and two, conducted by an armed guard to McFarland's plantation just over the Parish line of Red River, within the boundaries of Bossier parish, about 40 miles east of the Texas line. There they were set upon and deliberately murdered in cold blood.

THE MURDERERS.

On the night preceding the murders members of the White League of Caddo Parish mounted and armed, left Shreveport and were seen riding in the direction of the place where the murders were committed. The bodies of the victims were buried where they fell, without inquest or any formality whatever.

(Signed) WM. P. KELLOGG, Governor.

MISSOURI.

PEOPLE'S CONVENTION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. The Missouri People's Convention adopted a platform demanding the suppression of mob law everywhere, favoring the maintenance of public schools, quadrennial sessions of the Legislature, protection of the people against railroad monopoly, and resolved that any further contraction of the currency would be detrimental to the producing classes, and opposes any step in that direction. Recommends to the people of the several Congressional districts to elect members of Congress, who have constantly in view, the true interests of the producers of the West, improvement of the water routes of the country and other means of transportation to the sea board, reduction of taxes, and the adjustment of duties, speediest, most feasible and safe reduction and cancellation of the interest bearing debt and the abolition of the monopoly features of our banking system with as early a return to specie payment as can be effected without disaster.

The Treasurer stated that the road together with the bridge crossing the river at this city would be completed by the first of November next.

THE POLICE. We were inadvertently unjust to the City Police yesterday, in intimating their responsibility for permitting the gambling operations carried on in the vicinity of the Muster Field. The territory for half a mile around is under the police jurisdiction of the military and the Chief of Police was informed by the officers in charge that the services of his force would not be required within the prescribed limits.

THE BAZAAR at St. Mary's church continues to attract hosts of visitors, and the splendidly-arranged tables are kept loaded with all kinds of articles that tempt the visitor to purchase. THE MENDELSSOHN CLUB. Our own citizens are so well acquainted with the merits of this club that they will need no urging to patronize it this evening, especially when there is the attraction of a highly accomplished new soprano. To the strangers here who have not heard this club, we have to say, that if they would enjoy an unobjectionable entertainment where they will get more than an equivalent for their money, they will be sure to avail themselves of this opportunity. —The Kennebec Journal states that the resignation of J. W. Clapp, Esq., as General Ticket Agent of the Maine Central Railroad, was necessitated by the impairment of his health in the close application to the exacting duties of this position for seventeen years. The resignation was accepted with reluctance by the Directors, and those of the public who have had business at Mr. Clapp's office will regret that he is compelled to take this course, and will wish him the fullest success in all future undertakings.

THE BLACK CROOK. The opening performance of the Black Crook in Norombega Hall last evening was well attended, the floor and galleries being packed full. The company is nearly the same as last year and the scenery is in some respects improved. The ballet, marching, etc., is made as attractive as ever, and the play as a whole goes off smoothly. Miss Carle's dancing received abundant applause, and she continues as great a favorite as ever. The Snow Brothers, in their gymnastic feats and with their trained dogs were loudly applauded. A special train will leave this city for Oldtown at the close of the performance this evening.

FIRST MAINE CAVALRY. The First Maine Cavalry will hold their third annual reunion in Portland next Wednesday. The headquarters of the association will be at G. A. R. Hall. The line will be formed at 10½ o'clock A. M., and, headed by Chandler's Band, the procession will march to Custom House wharf and take steamers, for Peaks's Island. A business meeting for the election of officers for the ensuing year will be held immediately after arrival at the island, where a clambake will be served the excursionists. After returning to the city the association will meet at G. A. R. Hall at 6½ o'clock P. M. At 7 o'clock the members and invited guests will have a banquet and a camp fire. The members of the regiment throughout the state are taking a great deal of interest in their reunion, and the prospect now is that it will be the largest meeting of the kind held this season. The regimental flag bears the largest list of engagements of any regiment in the Army of the Potomac, a fact that it may well be proud of.

A BAD ACCIDENT. Yesterday afternoon, as Williams' express team was coming from the muster field it collided with a team driven by Mr. W. H. Pritchard, on the bridge between the two hills near the camp. The express wagon, with its driver and the passengers, among whom was Mr. Ebenezer Adams, was precipitated down the embankment, a distance of twenty five feet. Mr. Pritchard and the occupants of his wagon, Mrs. Pritchard, Mrs. Stuart, Mrs. Dagley and child, were thrown out but fortunately did not go over the embankment. As it was, however, they were, with the exception of Mrs. B. and child, considerably bruised. Mr. Adams received the most serious injury, as the horse fell directly upon him, holding him down until he was released by other hands. His injuries are the more severe from the fact that he is about seventy-nine years old, and not as strong as the younger members of the party. The wagon was smashed badly, and the horse somewhat injured. The escape of the unfortunate passengers from more serious injuries is somewhat remarkable. The bridge ought long ago to have had good strong rails put up on its sides, which would in this case have prevented the accident.

RECEPTION TO GEN. CHAMBERLAIN. A reception complimentary to Gen. Chamberlain and staff was given at City Hall last evening. The heavy shower which fell during the evening seemed to keep away many who otherwise would have attended, but, as it was, a goodly company of the elite of this city were present to pay their respects to the General and to Governor Dingley, who with his staff were also present. About half past nine Gen. Chamberlain arm in arm with Gov. Dingley entered the Hall, escorted by J. P. Bass, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, and followed by the respective staffs of the General and the Governor in the order of their rank accompanied in many cases by their ladies. After those present had paid their respects to the distinguished guests, the floor was cleared for dancing, Harlow's Orchestra of 14 pieces furnishing the music, under the leadership of Mr. M. H. Andrews. At half past eleven a bountiful supply of refreshments were furnished by Frazer, after which the dancing continued, we don't know how long, as we came away at midnight, when but six of the eleven dances on the list had been gone through with. It was a very pleasant affair, and highly enjoyed by those in whose honor it was gotten up, as well as by all others who participated in it. Among the distinguished guests of the occasion were ex-Gov. Perham, President Allen of the State College, and others.

STATE EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION. Mr. Editor:—This Convention met according to announcement, at Rockland, Aug. 25th, commencing Tuesday at 2 P. M., and closing Wednesday night. The attendance was not as large as could have been wished by the friends of education, and we were sorry to see that the educators of Bangor were represented, so far as we could learn, by a single person—the venerable Dr. Tefft, who delivered an address to which the Convention listened with much interest. The hospitality of the citizens of Rockland formed a marked contrast to the conduct of the people of other cities where conventions and institutes have been held, who have not paid the slightest attention to the education of the State. Those who attended the convention were welcomed by the Mayor in a kindly address, entertained at the houses of the citizens, and made to feel everywhere that they were welcome. The people of Rockland certainly have some peculiar ideas, some of them remarking that they felt it a privilege to entertain the teachers of the State. Some of our larger cities apparently think, not only that no attentions are due from them to the educators of the State, but that there is no necessity for their teachers or school superintendents even to attend educational assemblies, with a view to enlarging their usefulness. Evidently they have reached the highest attainable ground, and are disposed to be exclusive. The cordial welcome and genial hospitality extended by the citizens of Rockland will not soon be forgotten by those who had the pleasure of attending the convention and becoming acquainted with that pleasant city. PENOBSCOT.

THE STATE MUSTER—THIRD DAY.

The most serene and beautiful of moonlight nights in camp, which was enjoyed by all under and outside of canvass till the eleven o'clock "taps," was succeeded by a dun and murky sky, giving some premonitions of a change in the beautiful weather which had so far favored the encampment. The sun however, brushed this quite away, and until the afternoon review the weather was most favorable for the comfort of the men in their routine exercises.

During the night Col. Mattocks had made the "grand rounds" and found everything under his command in an orderly state conformable to the required regulations and discipline. At in the early morning only four men were reported at the hospital headquarters as needing medical assistance, which was promptly and effectually rendered by Surgeon Martin and Hospital Steward Butler. They proved to be light cases incident to summer camp-life and yielded readily to treatment. The morning previous there were seven cases reported, thus giving evidence of the better physical condition of the men under the more complete organization of the camp. Guard mounting was performed at the usual hour and attracted much attention from the numerous spectators already upon the ground.

followed, in which the respective companies entered with much alacrity and zest. The Androscoggin Light Artillery occupied a large portion of the field with their movements, which were executed in excellent style. The battery was dexterously handled, and the change of position from front to rear, with the rapid firing and from one portion of the field to another, was a very interesting and exciting spectacle. The followed, the several companies coming from their quarters in quick time and promptly coming into line. Col. Mattocks was in fine voice, and the evolutions were performed with improvement over those of the previous day. Among the evolutions executed on this and previous days were—marching in line of battle; march in retreat; forming double column at half distance; deploying into line, close column by division; marching by right flank, changing direction by left flank; deploying into line; changing front on 1st company; forming double column of fours; deploying into line; forming column of companies to right or left; breaking by right or left of companies to the rear into column; forming column at full distance front into line, and several others, showing the tactical study and practice of officers and men to excellent advantage. The soldierly bearing of the troops was finely displayed. In the march in line of battle the line was maintained with admirable steadiness. The battalion of unattached companies was also conducted in a very spirited manner, and reflected great credit on the command and the men. At 11½ o'clock a new attraction was introduced upon the field in the arrival of the escorted by the Montgomerys, the Coburn Cadets and the Biddefords. The Hamlins are a brand new organization in our city, composed of excellent material, and officered by Capt. Knowles Gordon, 1st Lieutenant Frank P. Gordon and 2d Lieutenant Charles Carr, numbering 32 muskets. The uniform is dark blue, with scarlet trimmings and state button, with regulation cap and scarlet pompon. This company has made rapid progress in drill under charge of Capt. Deane, the well-known military instructor. Their uniforms have been but recently obtained, and the necessary arrangements could not be perfected to participate in the full duties and privileges of the camp.

The necessary permission to parade with arms having been granted by the Governor, they put in an excellent appearance for the day winning frequent and gratifying expressions of commendation on all sides, and receiving a warm soldier's welcome from their comrades in arms. The perseverance and enthusiasm of this new organization, which will undoubtedly be speedily recognized by the military department of our State, in which it will hold an honorable position, are worthy of all praise. Capt. Gordon and his command in this, their maiden bow, have made a promising move.

During the forenoon Gov. Dingley, in an unofficial capacity, was present at headquarters, a gratified witness of the various military exercises, and at 2 o'clock an escort of the battalion of unattached companies with the Portland and Salem Bands, proceeded down Kenduskeag avenue and received him as accompanied by his staff, entering upon the field in the following order: Montgomery Guards, Coburn Cadets, Governor and staff, Hamlin Light Infantry and Biddeford Light Infantry. The Governor and staff were received by Major-General Chamberlain and Division Staff dismounted in front of headquarters, and upon dismounting an exchange of the customary courtesies took place.

THE INSPECTION

by the Inspector-General followed, and occupied much time, as it was not only extended to the troops in line, but to all the tents and camp appurtenances, from which the humblest menial is not entitled to exemption. The concourse around the field continued to swell in its proportions until 4 o'clock, the hour for the

by the Commander-in-Chief, when it is estimated that the assemblage reached from six to eight thousand. The whole enclosed area presented a dense mass of spectators on foot and a turnout of well filled carriages, which seemingly exhausted the public and private resources of the city in horses and vehicles.

The line was formed facing the headquarters, the regiment occupying the right, and the artillery and other unattached companies the left of the line. The spectacle presented by the line thus formed upon the field fringed with a mass of spectators was beautiful and grand. The Governor and staff rode down the line, the respective bands striking up as they moved slowly along in front and in the rear. The line then broke into column and marched in review, but before entering upon the double-quick, the clouds, which had been marshalling their vapors in the west, began to throw out their skirmishing drops which created a panic and among the crowd, and put an end to the review and the further military exercises of the day. Fortunately for the immense concourse, among whom the ladies constituted a large proportion, the rain fall was at first moderate, and gave timely warning to many to repair to their conveyances and start on their homeward flight. The spectacle of the hurrying mass of human beings from the field, and the whirl of carriages which blackened the highway, although not exactly a military feature, nor according to programme, afforded a striking illustration of a rout. Subsequently, when the field was nearly cleared, a heavy shower fell, accompanied by a smart wind, when the troops, with such of their friends who remained, appreciated the benefits of canvass.

"HAIL TO THE CHIEF"

CHOICE MUSIC

was discoursed at intervals during the day at headquarters by the several bands. The Bangor Cornet rendered selections from Balfe's opera of Beatrice, "Wine, Woman and Song" by Strauss, overture to "Jolly Robbers," in their best style. The Salem Band, James Faxon leader, performed with artistic finish Strauss' Waltzes of the Danube and several other first-class pieces. The Portland Band also contributed its very best to this musical offering, all of which was highly enjoyed and applauded by a large and appreciative audience, among whom were many of the more prominent citizens of our city and State.

At the headquarters in front of Gen. Chamberlain's tent might be seen the champion flag of the Jameson Guards, awarded them at the State Fair two years ago; and upon the tent of Maj. Bradbury, we noticed the artillery flag of his command in the Shenandoah Valley.

TO-DAY.

The routine for to-day will be found in another column. We believe it will comprise company and individual drills for the gold medals. A mock dress parade is on foot to come off between 12.30 and 2 o'clock P. M. At 4 o'clock the troops will break camp and march into the city, honoring the Mayor with a marching salute at some convenient point on the route to the Maine Central station. The troops will leave the city by special trains and other conveyances at 6 o'clock.

BANGOR POLICE COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE GOODENOW,

Thursday, Sept. 3d. Benjamin Nickerson was up for being drunk, and paid $5 and costs for it.

George, alias "Coachy" Hoyt, and John Robinson, Jr., were up for drunkenness and disturbance, and paid $5 each and costs.

It is announced that the new daily in New York will positively commence publication on the 14th of next month. It will not only sustain the Administration, but will advocate the third term. A Washington correspondent says that a few days ago those interested in the paper waited on the President, and informed him of the policy of the proposed publication. He positively refused, upon being solicited, to subscribe to any of its stock. This is creditable to the President's good sense, and, if the projectors of this newspaper think the people will stand any third term nonsense, they will make a very serious mistake. President Grant ought to be satisfied with a tenure of office as long as that of Washington, and, whether he is or not, the people are satisfied that no man should be President for more than two terms.

EX SECRETARY McCULLOCH ON THE FINANCES. The letter of ex Secretary McCulloch on the financial position and duties of the country is able, lucid and sound in its main views. Mr. McCulloch says that none but bankrupt nations, with the exception of the United States, keep in circulation an irredeemable paper currency — a currency which, in their cases, tends to produce and perpetuate the poverty it indicates. Here the discredit is wholly unnecessary, for it is believed that the specie standard might have been restored before this, if the great power in the land, the press, had given the doctrines enunciated from the Treasury Department from 1866 to 1869 the hearty indorsement it has given to similar doctrines when proclaimed by the President in 1874. He hopes that the result of the panic will be to lead to such correct appreciation of real money as will lead to its restoration. His plan for resumption does not differ in its important features from that recommended by the President. He would fix December, 1875, as the time after which United States notes should cease to be a legal tender; he would retire at least fifty million dollars in United States notes per annum until all should be retired, and prohibit their reissue; he would issue an equal amount, if required, to national banks, and after the specie standard has been established by these means, he would make banking free.

Mr. McCulloch thinks that the demand of the West for more currency comes chiefly from those who have little or nothing to sell, and who would be consequently injured by a compliance with their demands. The causes of the present depression of prices he regards as temporary, and their removal, he says, would be assisted, as far as they would be affected at all, by the improvement of our money. As to the revival of the Democratic notion of paying the five-twenty bonds in greenbacks, he deeply deplores it as calculated to mislead well-meaning people, if not to damage the national credit. He says that if this expression of the Democratic Convention of Indiana truly expresses or reflects the sentiment of the Democracy of the State, it is to be hoped that the spirits of Jefferson and Jackson, of Benton and Wright, and the host of other Democratic worthies whose fame is the nation's pride, do not witness the apostasy of those who claim to be their followers.—[Boston Journal.

There is not a worse governed or managed State in the Union than Missouri. Crime, murder, outlawry, and the most disgusting forms of rebellion are rampant. Life is more unsafe than with the wild men of the plains. Two or three men defy a whole community and make bloody murder a pastime, and no power of the Government can arrest or punish them. Railroad trains are stopped by blood-thirsty barbarians and peaceable citizens shot down in cold blood and no one is brought to punishment. In many portions of the State there is a reign of terror from December to January. And all this is under Democratic rule. The old party holds the reins of power under a more than midnight darkness and with a disposition to go back to the dark ages.—[Omaha Republican.

SUMMER COMPLAINTS.

Those who fear the advent of Cholera Morbus, Cramps and Pains, Diarrhea, Dysentery, and all the ailments and diseases incidental to the summer season, should procure a bottle of that great preventive of disease,

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER

THE DELICIOUS FAMILY MEDICINE.

It is the most reliable household remedy ever compounded. It never fails to afford the most gratifying relief. Its range of administration is boundless, its effect always certain, and so agreeable in flavor that it must supplant every other medicine in the treatment of the above ailments. Its claim to superiority consists in the combination of the True Jamaica Ginger, with the choicest aromatics and genuine French Brandy. Referring to this elegant combination,

DR. SANFORD SAYS,

"A series of experiments in the use of brandy in the treatment of diseases for which this preparation of Jamaica Ginger is recommended, convinced me that it is vastly superior to alcohol as used by all other manufacturers. It produces a more beneficial astringency in summer complaints, while its stimulating effects in the weak and sickly are more uniform and lasting. By its use also, the harsh, pungent taste of alcohol, from which poisonous fusil oil is seldom absent, is entirely avoided."

Assured of its superiority over all other preparations of Jamaica Ginger, by careful comparison with all known "Essences" and "Extracts," the general agents offer, in good faith, a reward of

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

For a bottle of any other "Essence," or "Extract" of Jamaica Ginger, if found to equal it in fine flavor, purity and prompt medicinal effect. Ask for

APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA

New Revised Edition

Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with Several Thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal developments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature and art have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled THE AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their place in permanent and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of political and historical events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming in fact a new Cyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopædia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to Subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be completed in sixteen large octavo volumes, each containing about 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Maps.

THE SINGER'S GIFT.

BY SAMUEL W. DUFFIELD

Oh' wonderful gift of song,
When hearts are heavy and sad
To lift and to make them strong,
To teach them still to be glad!

Oh' wonderful gift of song,
When out of the winter's chill
And out of the time so long
Brings birds of the summer still!

Oh' wonderful gift of song,
Like rays of another light,
To wake the world of wrong,
The world of a sober right.

Oh' wonderful gift of song
To bind in a common love
The life of the lower throng
With the life of the lands above

Oh' wonderful gift of song
When hearts are heavy and sad
Uplift and make them strong,
To teach them still to be glad!
